Proposed for the Congested Sections of the East Side, Where Children Swarm.

By Sophie Irene Loeb. That the dreams of yesterday have been the realizations of to-day is strongly evidenced in the telephone, telegraph, the wireless and the seroplane, all of which have arrived as a means of economy of time and space. And now comes a suggestion for

Unique Plan for Elevated Parks And Playgrounds for East Side elevated parks and playgrounds along the most congested sections. This plan is recommended by Hugh E. Mc-Laughlin, one of the assistant enposed local real estate values will be of elevated parks and playgrounds, especially in the congested areas, would cost one-fifth as much as real estate areas. I would suggest twenty plots to the mile and the dimensions of each elevated plot to be 60 by 200.

COST $250,000 A MILE CONSID-ERED CHEAP.

The estimated cost of one mile would be about $250,000, while a square real estate block in these areas is generally valued at over $1,000,000. The proposition presents the building of elevated parks and playgrounds in the congested east side section of Manhattan Borough, along First avenue north of Twenty-third street and along Second avenue south of Twenty-third street and a result will be rich and immeasurable. Gutzon Borgium, the eminent sculptor, writes to Mr. McLaughlin as follows: "I was delighted to see your scheme for increasing the play facilities for children in the crowded districts of the city. I think the plan has admirable features about it. I do not know anything against it, as a matter of fact, although I have not had time to study its relationship to the life of the city.

"I shall be glad at any time to talk with you about the matter, or to take part in any movement you may suggest that will perfect and beautify the playgrounds for the city as follows: "I was delighted to see your scheme for increasing the play facilities for children in the crowded districts of the city. I think the play against it, as a matter of fact, although I have not had time to study its relationship to the life of the city.

Charles Dana Gibson, the well-known artist, also wrote to him: "I was delighted to see your scheme for increasing the play faciliti the congested east side section of Manhattan Borough, along First avelevated railroad below Twenty-third street, on Second avenue north of Twenty-third street, on Second avenue north of Twenty-third street, on Third avenue entirely, on Park avenue through Harlem, on Sixth and Eighth avenues in part, and on lower Ninth avenues.

As indicated, Second avenue has no elevated railroad below Twenty-third street, and First avenue none above Twenty-third street, so that on these avenues the proposed ornamental parks and playgrounds can be built.

The plans obviously offer a wide range to the fancy of the park maker and to the hopes of the playground enthusiast. Tennis courts and a covered baseball diamond are shown with the parks alternately arranged. Running tracks, gymnasium apparatus and football fields could readily be provided on other continuous structures.

Music stands, lecture platforms and moving picture screens should by all means be erected in these parks and entertainments free by day and evening, especially should be bountifully afforded to this terribly congested locality.

WILL APPEAL STRONGLY TO ALL

INTERESTED. The great areas for parks and playgrounds made possible by this proposition without additional purchase of costly real estate, will appeal strongly to all those interested. The multitude residing in that closely built section have to travel for miles to some distant point to get a day's enjoyment nowadays.

FRENCH SUFFRAGETTE RAMPANT IN LONDON

Smashes Museum Windows and Fires Volley of Parisian Lingo at Judge in Court.

LONDON, May 28.-A French militant suffragette who was arested for smashing three winlows at the National Gallery to-day created a scene when she was brought before the Magistrate at Bow Street Police Court. She continually shouted in French "Hurrah for liberty!" and "Hurrah for Christabel Pankhurst!" The prisoner refused to give her name and told the Magistrate she did not want to hear anything. This apparently did not apply to herself, for she kept up a voluble denunciation in French, accom-panied by much gesticulation, throughout the proceedings.

She was remanded in custody for

She was remanded in custody for a further hearing.

When arrested the woman was carrying a bag filled with flints, some of which she had used on the windows of the National Gallery.

A bomb filled with gunpowder, gelatine and iron bolts was found to-day in the freight car of a train at Wellingborough. The missile is believed by the authorities to have been placed there by suffragettes.
